

Pension overview - ATP Livslang Pension (ATP)

Here you can see what you can expect to receive from ATP when you reach the Danish retirement age as XX-year-old.

Your expected pension is a forecast. This means that it has been calculated on the basis of a number of standard assumptions such as, the rate of inflation and future returns on investments and among other things. At www.lifeindenmark.dk/atp you can see the standard assumptions. The forecast is calculated in present value terms, i.e. what the money is worth today.

The figures have been calculated on XX XXX 20XX.

Your expected pension

If you continue contributing to ATP as you are doing currently, we expect that you will receive an annual pension before tax of:

ATP DKK XXX

If you stop contributing to ATP you can expect an annual pension before tax of DKK XXX.

On www.lifeindenmark.dk/atp you can see how various rates of return impact your forecast pension.
